

Aerpio Therapeutics is proud to be an event sponsor for the upcoming 2012 annual NAVBO meeting.

9/21/12 - The North American Vascular Biology Organization annual meeting will be held at the Asilomar Conference Grounds, Monterey, California - October 14-18, 2012. The fifth NAVBO Developmental Vascular Biology Workshop will bring together scientists with the common interest of understanding the process of blood vessel formation in development and how this information pertains to pathological states. The program was developed to include the latest unpublished information in the key/classical topics, but has also integrated novel emerging themes. The conference aims to foster a high-level exchange of ideas that might lead to new integrative insights and ultimately highlight new therapeutic approaches for amelioration of a broad spectrum of pathological states including, but not restricted to cancer, arthritis, retinopathies and thrombotic disorders leading to myocardial infarction and stroke.
